Link to my GitHub Repository:
https://github.com/Navarro-Angel/Navarro_Angel_Portfolio

Week in Review:

This week had been very similar to past couple weeks, except I was given two days off in a row and a few shorter shifts at work, which enabled me to do my work in a more timely manner and not have to finish it at the last moment. I've gotten better at Github I feel, though I don't like when I add a file and it asks for the file name or summary it changes the description in the repository to that. I really enjoyed the second discussion this week and seeing which quote people found motivational and/or inspirational. I'm cautiously optimistic I may get the hang of Github yet!